Jobs and Membership: Some Encouraging Signs

By Bo Beaulieu

In recent days, I have had the opportunity to read emails that have announced job openings for people with community development-related backgrounds and experiences. Despite the fact that the economy is not yet humming at the level that we would all like, I sense that something positive is happening when it comes to our discipline and profession....

Stories from Our Previous CDS Awards Winners! Nominate by April 15th

By Craig Talmage

You still have time to recognize the exceptional work of your mentor, colleague, or student by nominating them for a prestigious award presented by the Community Development Society! Each year the Society presents awards to members and non-members in recognition of outstanding achievements in community development. Awards will be presented at the Annual Conference in Dubuque, IA on from July 20-23, 2014. Note: The deadline for nominations has been extended to April 15. Here are some reasons why you should nominate someone today from our past award winners...

Development "Editor's Choice Collection"

By John Green

CD Editor John Green recently teamed up with Taylor & Francis to produce an "Editor's Choice Collection." This initiative is intended to advance knowledge in the field of community development by drawing attention to articles across several different themes. These include: 1) methodological and theoretical frameworks; 2) interviewing, observation, and field research; 3) survey research; 4) network analysis; and 5) community indicators and secondary data.
